Vessel Loss of Propulsion, Coast of Los Angeles County, Hazardous Materials Spill Report: 18-2910 (FINAL)

On 05/05/18 at 0254 hours, the California State Warning Center (CSWC) received a report from the National Response Center (NRC) that a vessel (Bulk Carrier Foochow – Singapore) off the coast of Los Angeles County had lost main propulsion while performing pre-arrival checks; a requirement of all vessels coming into port in the United States.

- The crew shut down the main engine to troubleshoot and fix two mechanical issues.
- The vessel was not in danger and retained the ability to restart the engine and maneuver if necessary.
- Onboard cargo included 996 tons of vessel fuels and 23,000 tons of solid petroleum coke.
- United States Coast Guard (USCG) was monitoring the situation and prepared to respond in the event the vessel needed assistance.
- CSWC made notifications per SOP.
- As of 05/05/18 at 0554 hours, the vessel was operating on its own power and was proceeding safely to the Long Beach Anchorage (ANCH).

Per the USCG via the Cal OES Maritime Critical Infrastructure Emergency Services Coordinator (ESC) as of 05/05/18 at 1000 hours, the vessel was secure at anchorage and awaiting parts for maintenance.

- There were no hazardous materials released.
- There were no issues with the crew.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Mainly dry weather is expected over the next 7 days with only a slight chance of light rain being possible across northern mountains during the middle of this week.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

It will be another warm day away from the coast, while cooler conditions slowly spread inland with the sea breeze this afternoon. The marine layer is expected to deepen a bit overnight with a better chance of low clouds and fog spreading several miles inland. Slightly cooler on Monday, then a bit warmer through midweek as high pressure rebuilds aloft. A weak low pressure trough develops over the West later in the week, for cooler weather, more low clouds, and a deeper marine layer.
